

PREMIER HAULTAIN Beds

On Imaginary Autonomy And Dream
Railways.

The crowd in the Thistle Bank last night showed a waning interest in local premier as an issue in the Edmonton election. Mr. Roblin was met by a crowded house, but Mr. Haultain had room and to spare. J. C. E. Brown was chairman. Premier Haultain, Mr. Secord, Mr. Oliver and Mr. Cross were on the platform, besides a number of others.

The proceedings began with a song, "The Maple Leaf," by Mr. Stutchbury.

Premier Haultain prefaced his remarks by stating that if any one had come to the meeting, expecting a song and dance, he would be disappointed, as the subject was a dry one. He claimed for the people of the Territories the full rights of citizens of Canada, and therefore the right to the complete management of their local affairs. The Assembly had demanded this right, and the Government had conceded it. He claimed that provincial autonomy would mean a revenue of over two million dollars a year to the Territories. He was only asking autonomy on the same terms as the other provinces. Complained that when Mr. Borden, the leader of the opposition, had moved in support of the Assembly's resolution, Mr. Oliver had opposed him because Mr. Borden had not promised to support the terms asked by the Assembly. Mr. Oliver had said that he would support larger grants for the Territories, but had not moved for larger grants; had not made a speech in the House in support of larger grants. (The grants had been increased, and this year the amount was some thousands of dollars more than he, as premier, had asked for, but this was just before a general election. He did not believe the electors could be so bribed. If it was right that we should get this amount now, why had we not received it the year before. He had been accused of advocating autonomy at this time as a means of fighting the Government's railway policy. This was not correct. Autonomy was an issue of great importance and the people were warranted in giving a decision on it. The Dominion Government had offered the local government $250,000 without interest, for roads and bridges. He had not accepted it because we were entitled to larger grants instead of a loan. Mr. Oliver should have moved and spoken for still larger grants.

Mr. Oliver said that the subject of provincial autonomy had not been generally discussed, and that it was not generally understood. Mr. Haultain's visit and speech was merely an attempt to make autonomy an issue here, where his party's policy on the main issue of the election—that is, the railway—was not popular. He produced a sheet of "Conservative campaign literature of the very newest vintage, and of forty columns of matter, the greater part devoted to antagonizing the railway; there was a four inch quotation from Mr. Borden's speech on provincial autonomy, made the session before last. This was the proportion of importance which the Conservative party assigned to provincial autonomy, and he believed that it was a fair proportion. The railway was the issue, not autonomy. Mr. Haultain had come to fight the railway by talking autonomy. He had not presented the autonomy question fairly. He had represented it as an issue of paramount control of the public funds. The conditions in Manitoba, which had been a province for over thirty years, and did not own either lands, timber or minerals, disproved this. Mr. Haultain had based his assertion that provincial autonomy would give us a revenue of two million dollars a year on the supposition that the other provinces would permit the Dominion to pay that amount because of lands given to railways. If we could get that amount of subsidy on that account it would certainly be very good. But who was going to give it? Certainly not the party which gave the lands away in the first place—the party supported by Messrs. Haultain and Secord. Mr. Borden had never indicated that he would even consider such a proposal. And without that provincial autonomy meant financial loss. Provincial conditions were essentially fixed. Territorial conditions were essentially expanding. A fixed provincial revenue with ever expanding responsibilities had been met by annually increased grants. These increases were his answer to Mr. Haultain's assertion of lack of effort on his part. Unless provincial organization could be secured on terms which would give us an annually expanding revenue, we must lose by provincial organization if our population increased as expected. He asked the meeting to judge between himself and the Territorial government, as represented by Messrs. Haultain and Secord. He had so used a grant so large that Mr. Haultain said it was a bribe, and still the road to Stony Plain was a disgrace and danger; the road allowance to Morinville could not be travelled; and for lack of proper expenditure on the 14th base line east a large part of the Beaver Lake trade had been lost to Edmonton; and this while the grant for the year was several thousand dollars more than Mr. Haultain had asked for, and while there was a $250,000 advance without interest lying to his credit, and as yet untouched. But the railway, and not autonomy, was the issue. The Assembly had made Edmonton a city in name, but the Grand Trunk Pacific would make it a city in fact. Mr. Haultain's party promised a government owned, transcontinental railway to the people of the West, but in the east they told the electors that the railway meant a huge national mortgage, and that the eastern and government owned portion of the railway would be no better than scrap iron. The Government was not making a promise, but was asking for the ratification of a bargain. The opposition had made no promise of a railway, now or at any other time. They had talked a great deal, but had promised nothing. Admitting a promise for the sake of argument, the people were being asked to accept a promise instead of closing a bargain. This was not a business proposition, and would not be accepted by business people to whom the building of the railway at once meant success or failure.

Mr. Haultain did not deal with autonomy in his reply, confining his attention to the railway, and read what he called a promise by Mr. Borden that if returned to power he would build a railway, but the "ifs" in Mr. Borden's alleged promise were altogether too numerous to be convincing. He read from the reports of the North-West council of 1883 to 1884 reports purporting to show that Mr. Oliver had at that time approved of the C. P. railway policy of that day, and of the policy of granting lands to railways. Neither quotation supported the statement made. Mr. Haultain closed by exhorting such of the audience as had remained to vote against Mr. Oliver, and for the Conservative party.

The meeting concluded with loud cheers for Oliver, less cheers for Secord, and the National Anthem as a means of quieting the crowd, which by that time had grown comparatively small but made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.

MEETING AT MORINVILLE

Steffes Hall, Morinville, was filled Tuesday evening by a large audience. Mr. A. Ringuette occupied the chair.

Mr. Haultain spoke a few minutes in French, and about an hour in English. Mr. Oliver then spoke for an hour and Mr. Haultain closed the meeting.

Messrs. Secord and Lambert, M.L.A.'s, were on the platform.

Mr. Secord moved a vote of thanks to the chairman, seconded by Mr. Oliver.

The meeting broke up with enthusiastic and persistent cheering for Oliver, Laurier and the Railway.

Ponoka Exhibition

Herald:

Ponoka's first annual fair has come and gone. We say annual, for after the great success accomplished on Tuesday, there is no doubt but that it has come to stay—that it is to be one of the events cut out for the community at large. That the board of management deserve credit for the way in which the day's proceedings passed off goes without saying; and, although there might have been a few drawbacks and inconveniences, yet, on the first attempt, nothing but praise can be meted out.

In the different classes of exhibits, the stock was number one, and if there was room for a larger display, certainly nothing was wanting in quality and quantity. It is due to the enterprising exhibitors in the horse section a better display could hardly have been brought together, more especially in that of class two, general purpose, the competition being very keen, and the judges had not a little difficulty in fixing upon the most meritorious. The cattle class was also of a high order, and in a few years we can look forward to very keen competition along this line. There was a good display of the different breeds of sheep to be found in these parts. Goats also showed up well. In poultry there could scarcely have been a finer display, not only in quantity but in quality, and again there was very close scrutinizing in making the awards.

It is doubtful if the exhibits of grains and vegetables could have been surpassed in a much larger and older exhibition. In fact, it was a common remark that many had not seen their equal in places where fairs had been held annually for years. In the exhibits of grain the samples were number one, and reflect most creditably upon the reputation of the country. In the vegetable line which is the specialty of this district, there were exhibits that must be seen to be appreciated or even believed by a non-resident. There were cabbages that measured forty inches in circumference, white turnips even larger, beets twenty inches, carrots and parsnips ten to twelve inches around, cabbage weighing twenty-three pounds, and other vegetables in equal proportion. Potatoes were represented by all the varieties in size and form such as could be found only in Alberta.

In the exhibits of dairy butter, native fruit products, pickles, and bread and cake there was keen competition, and each exhibit was very good indeed.

The department most deserving of special mention was that of fancy work and paintings. Almost every division in this class was represented by numerous exhibits, and the whole constituted a handsome display. The winning exhibits were in each instance deserving of credit to the exhibitor.

Conservatives and Government Ownership

Vancouver World:

From the beginning of the debates in parliament which began in 1902 over the projected extension of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Conservative press proclaimed that government ownership was a vicious principle. For example, the Montreal Star said on September 9, 1902:

"A railway is run to make money. It can make the most money by accommodating the most people; therefore, the railway in private hands will seek to accommodate the most people. But government railways are run with a constant eye to keep the government in power. They would be located with the same object in view, and if there were a choice between two places, one of which supported, and the other did not support the government, there would be a poor chance for the latter."

This editorial utterance of the Montreal Star appeared a few days after it had been announced in the Star, on the strength of a New York interview with Sir William Mulock, that the latter, and probably the government as a whole, favored state construction and operation of the proposed new line.

On June 1, 1903, the Toronto Mail and Empire, after quoting from the Intercolonial accounts, said: "If this is not a warning against government ownership and management of railways, nothing in the world can be." In the same article the Mail and Empire commended the action of the H.I.T. board of trade in urging that the Intercolonial should be leased to a company as a means, to use the Mail's language, of "stopping the everlasting flow of taxes into the sand."

The Montreal Gazette, on April 1, 1904, in an article on the hopelessness of trying to make the Intercolonial pay, said:

"Owned by any other organization but a government it would be bankrupt. It is an effective exhibition both against government ownership and the proposed construction by government of another railway twice as long."

And these are the three leading and most influential newspaper organs of the Conservative party, whose present leader is arguing for government ownership votes without actually committing himself either to government ownership or government operation.

CONVENTION CLOSED

THE PROLONGED SESSIONS

The Episcopal General Convention concluded its sittings yesterday.

Bulletin Special Dispatch.

Boston, Mass., October 25.—The triennial General Convention of the Episcopal church which has been in session since October 5th was adjourned to-day with a public service in Trinity church. Bishop Henry Potter of New York read a pastoral letter addressed to the church at large on problems before the country. Regarding divorce, the pastor said that the facility with which the marriage vows may be taken on and put off is one of the menaces of American civilization, to the possible peril of which Christian people are as yet imperfectly aroused.

The letter made a plea for the permanent security of the family.

A resolution permitting foreign congregations now in communion with the church to use forms of service in their own tongue was adopted to-day. The chief feature of the session was the long discussion of the amendment to the divorce canon. A compromise was finally adopted whereby the innocent person in a divorce for adultery is permitted to remarry after the decree is issued.

THE MAN IN THE AIR-SHIP

TALK IT OVER

You talk over the question of the best food to give your baby with every one who can help you. Especially talk it over with your doctor. You may have been fortunate during the past summer, but you know of very many mothers who have had serious trouble with their children because the right food could not be found for them. You remember the experiments they made, the constant change from milk to one food or another, and the struggle and danger which it all meant.

We will send you, free of charge, a trial package of Nestle's Food sufficient for eight meals.

NAVAL ACTIVITY

BRITISH GIBRALTAR SQUADRON

Has Received Orders to Shadow the Russian Baltic Fleet.
Feeling in Great Britain is at Fever Heat.

LANSDOWNE ON RUSSIA'S REPLY.

London, October 27.—In interviews at the foreign office with the foreign ambassadors, this being at the regular reception, Lord Lansdowne, though in no degree pessimistic regarding the eventual outcome, gave his callers clearly to understand that he did not regard Ambassador Benckendorff's letter as altogether satisfactory and that it was distinctly incomplete. It was gathered that Lord Lansdowne has insisted that in the written reply to the letter handed down to Ambassador Hardinge by foreign minister Lansdowne punishment in principle shall be included and that, though Great Britain is unable at the present moment to specify the individuals likely to be found responsible, Russia pledges herself not only to ascertain who are responsible but to punish them in the most severe manner. Until Rojestvensky's report was received Russia has exhibited reluctance to give such a pledge believing that an ample apology in view of the lack of official information on their side would be sufficient.

PRECAUTIONARY NAVAL ARRANGEMENTS.

One of the ambassadors who visited Lord Lansdowne to-day said not one of his colleagues believed that a hostile issue was possible. The only conceivable danger was the bitterness of British public opinion which is being fanned into feverishness far more by the announcement of the precautionary naval preparations than by the news of the outrage itself. The next step is likely to be taken at St. Petersburg where Count Lamtorff who, it is now believed, is in possession of Rojestvensky's report, can deal positively instead of tentatively as he did in Ambassador Benckendorff's letter with the question of compensation and punishment.

In the meantime British naval preparations proceed quietly, apart from the diplomatic phase of the situation of Lord Lansdowne's express belief in early settlement.

GIBRALTER SQUADRON ACTIVE.

Gibraltar, October 27.—The battleships Victorious, Illustrious and Majestic, flagship of Vice-admiral Beresford, and the cruisers Lancaster, Thesus and Endymion, are under orders to sail in the morning of October 28th. It is reported that their purpose is to shadow the Russian second Pacific squadron which is expected to go by way of the Cape of Good Hope. The Russian squadron's cruisers and torpedo boats are expected to pass through the straits of Gibraltar on the way to Suez. The whole of the Gibraltar flotilla has been commissioned.

THOUGHT THEY WERE JAPS.

Madrid, October 27.—A telegram from Vigo to the Correspondencia says: "Officers of the Russian squadron give the following explanation of the North Sea incident; while manœuvring by night they saw two torpedo boats within the lines of the squadron. Supposing a Japanese attack was impending, they opened fire. They say they did not see a Japanese looking like fishermen aboard the two boats fired at. The officers say they do not know if any members of the crews were wounded. They expressed regret at the error."

HEART AND SWORD

Mr. Harold Nelson, whose very worthy performances last season of "Quo Vadis" are still recalled with pleasure by our theatre patrons, returns to us on Monday, November 7, with another elaborate dramatic production. This season's offering is the picturesque romantic comedy, "Heart and Sword," written by Mr. Walker Whiteside, and performed with success in all the principal cities.

"Heart and Sword" is a sprightly romance, and the author has evinced a lively fancy and a dexterous handling of his theme. The dialogue is brilliant, and complications logical, and the climaxes effective.

Mr. Nelson has in Prince Victor a role peculiarly well suited to his temperament, and calculated to demonstrate his versatility.

His supporting company this year is the strongest he has yet had, retaining the favorites, Clifford Bruce, William Garrett, William Blake and Helene Scott. The new members of the company are decided acquisitions.

Mr. C. P. Walker has furnished his star with a very beautiful production of this charming romantic play, the scenery being specially painted by a New York artist from the original designs. The grand locale of the play affords ample opportunities for elaborate costuming, and these have been taken full advantage of, without regard to expense. The lighting effects will be found particularly good, being in charge of an experienced electrician.

The Canadian Northwest Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting those of 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, or 160 acres, more or less. ENTRY.—Entry may be made in the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.
(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.
The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clause 2, 3 or 4, must or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, cultivate 20 acres of his homestead, and have besides 80 acres substantiated.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry annulled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office, in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to settle them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the various Provinces, British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART,

Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

FROM PEACE RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Lawrence and family, of Fort Vermillion, Peace river, and Geo. Bristow, of Stony Plain, arrived in the city on Sunday evening from the north. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and family left yesterday morning for Boissevain, Manitoba, where they will visit friends before returning to their home at Fort Vermillion next January.

Mr. Lawrence and party took five weeks to come from Fort Vermillion. He reports a fairly successful season, in the north. A slight frost, which did some damage occurred on August 25, an unusual thing for the Peace river country, judging from Mr. Lawrence's eighteen years experience in it. The growth was splendid although the crop had been put in late. The summer was fairly dry, more so than in previous years, but the latter part of August and most of September was very wet. A fairly heavy shower of snow fell at Dunvegan on September 1. The September rains raised the water at the portage on the Peace river five feet. The crops at Slave Lake are not so good as last year, owing to the dry weather which prevailed at the early part of the season.

A number of settlers are going into the Peace river country back from Dunvegan in the hopes of getting railway construction in that district in the near future.

The Hudson's Bay Company are fitting a new stern wheel steamer on the Peace river. It will ply between the Chutes and the Rockies.

Mr. Lawrence stated that a limited number of farmers could do well by going to Fort Vermillion at the present time. It would be necessary for them to have their minds made up to stay with the country, as the expense of getting in, one year, and moving out the next would be very considerable. Hardships similar to those found in all new countries would have to be contended with. A limited number of men could get employment at good wages. He would advise parties going into that country to confine their attention chiefly to the dairying branch of agriculture. The Hudson's Bay Company, and other northern traders, pay good prices for butter, which they buy in immense quantities. Mr. Lawrence has 125 head of cattle, and keeps twenty-five milking cows all the year round. He has also 200 hogs, for which there is a first class market in the north. He has 240 acres under crop, 135 acres of which is wheat, and the balance of which is principally barley. Vegetables grow luxuriantly in the Peace river country, and are raised extensively.

THE MARKETS

PLEASED WITH THE WEST

P. McKinnon, of Port Elgin, Ontario, arrived in the city last evening in the course of a trip through the west. Leaving the east some six weeks ago he has spent several days visiting the Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw and Red Deer districts. He is delighted with Kamootan and the solid, progressive appearance it presents. He is greatly pleased and surprised with the delightful mild summer weather Northern Alberta is enjoying, coming prepared, as he did, to see a foot of snow and correspondingly stormy weather. Edmonton is the best known place in western Canada and all look upon it as the coming great city of the great west.

PERSONAL

Commissioner Perry of the R. N. W. M. P. arrived in the city last evening.

F. W. G. Haultain, premier of the North-west Territories is in the city to-day.

A. M. Anderson, of Leduc, came up to Edmonton last evening to attend the political meeting.

P. McKinnon, of Port Elgin, Ontario, is in the city to-day in the course of a trip through the west.

M. J. McLeod, of Lacombe, arrived in the city last evening and left for Leduc this morning to be present at the nomination in the Strathcona constituency.

Underwear That Defies the Thermometer

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear is made in special weights for Northern winters. It's warm and heavy enough to let the most severe cold that the west blizzard can bring. Wearing Stanfield's garments, you don't care how low the thermometer drops.

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear

is made of long, silky Nova Scotia wool—the best in the world for underwear. It's treated by our special process, that insures it being absolutely unshrinkable. It's knitted in all sizes to fit every figure. And being unshrinkable, it holds its shape, no matter how often it is washed. You'll back it if it shrinks. Ask your dealer for Stanfield's.
